FOREWORD BY THE PUBLISHERS

ONE Cross Word Puzzle Book leads to another.

Now that the second volume, containing a new series of fifty more Cross Word Puzzles, is available, it seems fitting to take the reader behind the scenes and give him a short history of this cross word business.

The first Cross Word Puzzle Book was published on April 10th, 1924. In New York it sprang into immediate popularity, becoming there a best seller within a fortnight. A small but ardent group of cross word puzzle devotees gave the fad a running start. Among these pioneers may be mentioned F. P. A., Montague Glass, Neysa McMein, Emily Price Post, Baird Leonard, Ruth Hale, Gelett Burgess, Robert C. Benchley, Hendrik Willem Van Loon, Kathleen and Charles G. Norris, Mary Roberts Rinehart, and Carolyn Wells.

Cross word puzzling became the thing to do, the raging topic of conversation, supplanting Coué, Mah Jong, and Bananas (first a slogan—now a fact!). With this impetus, the pastime's popularity radiated to other cities, and within a month the Cross Word Puzzle Book was ranked No. 4 on the national list of non-fiction best sellers. Three weeks later it advanced to third place, and the following month jumped into the lead, where it appears to remain indefinitely.

First a fad, then a best seller, the Cross Word Puzzle Book became an American institution, immortalized in cartoons by Briggs, prose-epics by Bob Benchley, and ballads by F. P. A.

FOREWORD

Ordinary books are meant to be read. Here is a book in which one writes—more than that, a book in which one has the supreme satisfaction of unravelling a real mystery, tracking down clue after clue. This, no doubt, is the secret of the irresistible fascination of Cross Word Puzzling. Every one enjoys being an amateur Sherlock Holmes—and the tantalizing black-and-white word patterns provide an ideal battle-ground for one's detective instincts.

This deep-rooted appeal explains the extraordinary popularity of the book. When we announced in one of our early advertisements that “people do not want this book—they crave it!” we had actual proof to support this statement—frenzied fans storming the publishers' office to get extra copies in order “to keep peace in the house.”

Six weeks after the publication of the first Cross Word Puzzle Book—May 18th, to be precise—the Cross Word Puzzle Association of America was formed at a convention at the Hotel Ambassador, New York. At this congress the rules and regulations of Cross Word Puzzling were formulated. A contest for the cross word puzzle championship of the world was held, and William A. Stern II won first honors, solving a standard eleven-square formation in 10 minutes, 10 and two-fifths seconds. Mr. Stern has written a preface for this book, explaining the delights of cross word puzzling, for both novice and veteran.

Thus, in the words of Neal O'Hara, America began to gasp for words. The Cross Word Puzzle became the Great Escape from Boredom—the most powerful enemy of ennui. . . .

Not only entertainment and thrills, but sound instruction reward the true Cross Word Puzzler. Here is the most delightful and the most effective way of building up one's vocabulary and enriching one's general fund of information. Dictionaries and synonym books joined the best seller list, right behind The Cross Word Puzzle Book itself, for every one, to obtain the maximum benefit and fun, must have a dictionary or a word book handy.

The pencil and eraser provided with The Cross Word Puzzle Book proved to be a most popular feature. Post cards for applying for the correct answers to the puzzles also pleased the followers of the pastime. This equipment, therefore, is retained in the Second Series. The suggestion has been made that future editions of the book be equipped with shock-absorbers and four-wheel brakes.

Thousands of puzzle enthusiasts have indicated their eagerness for this second series of cross words. This book, like the first volume, is edited and compiled by the Cross Word Puzzle Editors of the New York World, the undisputed leaders of the gentle art. Every effort has been made to safeguard the technical perfection of the puzzles. This time they are arranged in the order of their difficulty, beginning with fairly easy ones, and ranging to the most intricate formations, calculated to baffle Houdini himself. Beauty of design, accuracy of definition, complete interlock, and the minimum number of unkeyed letters—these elements have all been considered in selecting the puzzles. We are confident that they will prove as absorbing, as entertaining,—yes, as exciting,—as the first fifty.

PREFACE

By WILLIAM A. STERN, 2nd
Cross Word Puzzle Champion of the World

TWO years ago I saw a friend of mine earnestly studying a checkered diagram in the magazine section of a Sunday newspaper. Curiosity impelled me to ask him whether he had taken up cross-stitching, because the pattern he so zealously pored over resembled closely that of an old-fashioned sampler. When he explained that he was attempting to solve a puzzle I laughed, because in my ignorance I believed that puzzles were childish time-wasters. I snorted my disdain at this sort of balderdash and, angered, he challenged me to try my hand at it.

I confidently predicted that I would easily solve the foolish enigma and after he had explained the manner of solution I set to work. A few minutes later I started asking questions. What was one supposed to do? My friend explained a second time and I was all at sea. Finally I understood what to do, but was shaky on how to do it. I finished that puzzle the next day. I gave little thought to food and rest; in the end I triumphed.

Since that time I have solved many cross word puzzles but on none have I consumed as much time as on that first heart-breaker. I used to blame my slowness on the fact that the method was never properly explained, but I now believe that my friend who gave me my first cross word baptism was an adequate instructor. The chief difficulty which the uniniti-ate meets lies in the struggle to concentrate on the explanation. In their simplest terms here are the rules and technique of cross word puzzling:

The primary object of the game is to fill up the blank spaces in a cross word design with letters which spell out words. The solver guesses the words from their definitions. By looking at a pattern we can tell how many letters are in a word to be guessed. Suppose, for example, you were asked for a six letter word meaning unsteady. You would go through all the synonyms for unsteady that you could recall. You would discard unstable, shaky, tipsy, tottering and rocky because none of these words has the proper number of letters. You would accept groggy or fickle. Now apply this system to the solution of a puzzle.

The definitions of the words are shown in two divisions: one division is captioned Horizontal, the other Vertical. Before each definition is a number which indicates that the word defined has its first letter in the square of the same number on the pattern. For example, in the puzzle on the jacket of this book (which is Number 1 in the book itself), we see under Horizontal, "1. stout." This means that the word is read horizontally and starts in the space numbered "1" on the pattern. The answer is "plump."

A word always runs from its first letter to a black square or to the end of the diagram. Having the word "plump" written in, we now have hints of a certain letter in each of four other words, because each of the letters in this word, except the letter "L," is used to form a word which is read downwards. Under the heading Vertical may be found the definitions of the words which read downwards. So we see that the letters in plump are used in the words prove, up, map, and plant. The letter "L" is called in cross word parlance an unkeyed letter because it does not give the solver a key to another word. Well constructed puzzles have few unkeyed letters. You will notice also that all the words in the puzzle are joined together or interlocked so that after guessing the first word the solver may decode the entire puzzle without one being minus a hint of some sort.

I do not mean to infer that these puzzles must be so constructed that the solver has a simple task. An object of crosswording is to puzzle, but fairness to a hard working puzzler dictates certain laws for the designer to follow. The first of these laws is the all-over interlock. The second is that in obsolete, rare, and unfamiliar words no letter should be unkeyed.

And now a few words as to technique. Of course I prefer my own method to any other, but I do not claim for it greater merit than the systems I will tell you about. When I get a puzzle to solve, my first move is to read all the definitions. Among these I am sure to find some familiar and overworked words which I can set into place and be off to a flying start. Certain simple three letter words such as bog, fen, pen, boa, emu, and roc, and other words in which vowels predominate such as opera and arena are used in hundreds of puzzles. I get these out of the way in short order. My next move is to start working on that part of the puzzle where I have filled in the largest number of words, because it is there that I have the greatest number of hints. If I strike a snag I immediately take up my work in some other place. And so I work my way around to completion.

Some people obtain excellent results by another method. They first do all the horizontal words which quickly come to mind. And then all the vertical. Thus they get an excellent start from which to work. Some solvers use the system of building up from the first word which they can guess.

Just a few words of warning:

First—Beware of putting in certain words whose definitions do not accurately define. Parts of the verb “to be,” personal pronouns, exclamations, notes of the scale, prefixes, suffixes and prepositions should not be filled in unless an interlocking word gives you a hint as to what they are. They are so numerous that without a hint it is futile to attempt to guess them.

Second—Beware of homonyms. A homonym is two words which have the same sound, but have different meanings. The best illustration of a homonym appeared in F. P. A.’s column, the Conning Tower, a few years ago. According to my feeble memory the sentence ran, “If I should say that you are prone to carp, I would not mean that you are lying face downward to a deep sea fish.” How often does the solver struggle over such a definition as “light,” believing all the while that he must find a word meaning an illuminant, when the correct word is “airy”!

Third—Beware of sloppy printing and careless erasing. When you write in a word, letter neatly. Do not make a P look like an R. And when you find it necessary to erase be sure to obliterate every letter. Dangling characters which rubber crumbs have failed to pick up have cost so many wasted hours that experts in efficiency have taken up the matter in executive session.

Whatever method you employ or whatever mistakes you make, you will reap pleasure and profit for your time. You will increase your vocabulary, give yourself mental discipline, and, above all, you'll have fun.

I want to thank the Plaza Publishing Company, whose real name is Simon and Schuster, for its work in getting out these Cross Word Puzzle Books. Most of the puzzles are of the first rank and the variety of design is amazing. In fact I feel so kindly toward the publishers that I do not upbraid them for the time they made me lose by a few errata in the first edition, which they promptly corrected in the later editions. I can heartily congratulate any owner of this Cross Word Puzzle Book and all the Cross Word Puzzle Books to follow on the days of real pleasure that lie before him.

HOW TO SOLVE A CROSS WORD PUZZLE

THERE are two essential points that must be remembered by initiates into the cross word puzzlers' fraternity.

EXAMPLE

FIG. 1

DEFINITIONS

Horizontal

- 1 Disparage
- 6 Cereal grass
- 7 Abbr. Vice Admiral
- 9 An edge-tool
- 10 Urge
- 11 Skill
- 12 Behold
- 14 Prefix: good
- 15 Impair
- 17 Agreement

Vertical

- 1 Evolve
- 2 Toward
- 3 A rodent
- 4 Near
- 5 A web
- 8 Gone by
- 9 A land measure
- 13 A male sheep
- 15 Indeed
- 16 Disordered type

First, the numbers in the squares refer to the definitions; secondly, there should be but one letter to each white square.

Figure 1 shows a cross word puzzle challenging each and every one of us to solve it. Looking the puzzle over we find that 1 horizontal calls for a seven letter word meaning "disparage." That is not so easy, so we leave it temporarily. We go on to the next one, which is a three letter word meaning "a cereal grass." What else could it be but OAT? Therefore we ink in OAT in the proper squares. "Vice Admiral." That most assuredly must be VA. We place that into position. The ninth, tenth and eleventh do not come to our minds immediately, so we pass them up. We will catch them on the cross check. Twelve is familiar, however, and with a little thought we place LO in the vacant squares. The rest do not come to us, so we leave them also, and turn to the verticals.

THE CROSS WORD PUZZLE BOOK

Looking over the diagram (See Figure 2) we find that one vertical calls for a seven letter word whose third and fifth letters are V and L respectively and which is defined as “evolve.” The V and the L give us the clue. The word is DEVELOP. We place it in the diagram. Two, three and four are easy, for we have three clues to work on and we find the proper words without much difficulty. The next one is beyond us, so we go on to the one numbered 8. We find that a three letter word—starting with A—meaning “gone by,” is needed. The clues of A and O enable us to get that without much trouble, and we place AGO in the square. We pass by nine, but thirteen is easy. “A male sheep?” Why, of course, the word is RAM.

From now on the going is easy. We have plenty of clues to the words that we do not know.

(See Figure 3.) Rechecking the horizontals, we find that we have the first, third, fourth and fifth letters of “disparage,” and with their aid we easily see that the word is DETRACT. Looking for a two letter word meaning “an edge-tool,” we soon find that there is but one word that will fit. We place AX in position. With nine vertical beginning with an A it is easy to find that ARE is the proper word. Ten horizontal proves to be EGG and eleven becomes ART. We say to ourselves that if we could only get five vertical we would have the puzzle solved. Well, why not? Is the second letter an a, e, i, o, or u? The definition gives it as "a web." What word will fit but TEXTURE? We place that into position. Now, we find that we have the puzzle almost completed. Fifteen horizontal needs a three letter word meaning "impair." Its middle letter must be an A. With the A to guide us that is simple. The word is "SAP." Fifteen and sixteen being two letter words are easily found, and we place SO and PI into position. We now find that we have the puzzle completed with one exception. Seventeen horizontal has to be found. Its first, third, fourth, fifth and seventh letters are P OMI E. A consonant is needed for the second letter, and R seems to be the most logical choice. That gives us the word, which is defined as "agreement." (See Figure 4.)

THE CROSS WORD PUZZLE BOOK

We settle back into our chair with a sigh of content at the thought of a job well done. But that is not the finish. Rather it is but the start. Now that we have tasted the pleasures of cross word puzzling, we are loath to give our time to anything else. What other amusement offers the pleasure, instruction and satisfaction that is to be found in Cross Word Puzzles? There is but one answer to that question, and—foregoing the movies—we settle down to the elusive task of tracking words to their lairs.

DO'S AND DON'T'S FOR SOLVERS

DON'T get scared if you can't guess the first horizontal word. Go through the list till you find a definition that you're sure of. That is the simplest method of beginning the solution. When you have written in all the words you are sure of, you will have plenty of clues for the unknowns.

Don't spent too much time with the long words unless you are sure of them. They will appear when the short ones have been solved. Of course, not all the short ones are easy, but they are generally more readily attended to than the long ones. Also, there are more of them, increasing the chances of finding familiar faces among the definitions.

If you think a word is right, pencil it in lightly till you are sure. This saves erosion of paper and temper. But never hesitate to try a word that may be right. The trial and error method holds in puzzling as it does in life.

Remember that the horizontals furnish a sure check on the verticals, and vice versa.

If you are hopelessly stuck, try another puzzle. Inspiration sometimes waits for a return engagement.

A pleasant feeling of something attempted, something done, accompanies the solution of a cross word puzzle. It's good for the inferiority complex.

IN spite of an abbreviation here and there, this puzzle is one which is high in its rating. There aren't so many difficult words in it; but the few that do exist will keep you searching, or we miss our guess.

LITTLE BUT NEAT

By ISIDORE EDELSTEIN

A PRETTY construction by an old-timer at the game. And don't run away with the idea that its size has anything to do with ease of solution! Tackle it, and you'll get what we mean.

BOOLA BOOLA

By HASSLER WHITNEY

CONSIDERING how often the convenient "eli" finds its way into Cross Words, it is quite right to include this puzzle from New Haven. It is undoubtedly meant for freshmen, for despite a loose center and several unkeyed letters it shouldn't be too difficult.

THIS constructor built a form that gave himself a lot of two-letter words. Are two-letter words permitted in English? They are. But there are only a few of them in existence and, consequently, they are repeated often.

PLAN OF CAMPAIGN

By MORDECAI M. RICHTER

THIS looks like the plan of a fortress. Like a fortress of the true medieval type it has four massive corner ramparts, towers, battlements. The enemy might be tempted to pierce those thin side indentations, but remember the military strategy about the danger of getting into pockets and being trapped.

GOOD AS GOLD
By B. EISNER AND A. B. LEAVITT

ALL these words, from Cosmetic to Indian Tent, from Fish to Tinge, are good Rotarians. Mr. Babbitt knows and uses them all. Do you? If not, why not?

LULLABY

By HUGH P. EVANS

JUST a song at evening. This one should be a mere pleasant moment. If you love ease, here it is. However, "easy to solve and hard to construct," is the way the song sometimes should go. It is hard to keep inside a small dictionary.

DIAMONDS WITHIN DIAMONDS

PLENTY of trouble ahead here for the unwary solver. The four-letter word border is a tricky thing to monkey with, for often the wrong word contains the same number of letters and answers the definition perfectly. A good many unkeyed letters, but none in critical places.

A STAID FORM
By CHARLES ERLINKOTTER

THIS plot of crosses and dots looks safe and conservative. There are, however, several perfectly good English words that will give you a thrill. By strange coincidence, this odd pattern was used by another contributor and will be found elsewhere in the book. A comparison of the two puzzles will be interesting.

LOOSELY WOVEN

By JOHN BOYAJY

THE warp and weft of this one are not drawn too tightly together. If the puzzle has a fault, it is in the abundance of black squares, but the neat interlock saves it. Rather easy for the adept, and not an undue tax on the novice.

A STUDY IN CROSSES

By DANIEL O'LEARY

FUNNY how often you find crosses in cross word puzzles. There are several meanings to that. You will observe Maltese crosses in Mr. O'Leary's construction, and it isn't hard enough to make you cross.

WATCH THE LOWER LEFT HAND CORNER

By MARCAM

ONE of the editors, being tempted to solve this one in the proof, found it smooth, consistent sailing throughout, save in the lower left hand corner. This section probably isn't hard at all. Wonder how you will find it. You know how a pair of absurdly easy words will stump you now and then.

ROUND AND ROUND

By PERSEPHONE

THE double round of blacks outlines four good corners and a center which, while bearing an unenviable five-spot, would have been virtually impossible of construction without it. The unkeyed letters should not cause any trouble.

MY SECOND AND LAST

By JOSEPH A. MARGOLIES

“THIS is my second and last,” writes J. A. M. “Too absorbing. Leaves no time to read.” We don’t believe J. A. M. He underestimates the frailty of the human soul where cross word puzzles are concerned. He’ll be at it with ruled paper and pencil again, and then he’ll swear off again.

LOCKED UP TIGHT

By GREGORIAN

AN all-over double interlock with a triply-locked center and corners. Probably considerably easier to solve than to construct. The words are weak in spots, but the construction passes the few obsoletes.

TRY THEM OVER IN YOUR DAILY CHAT

By IRVAN NECKERMAN

THERE are several dozen words in this puzzle that you can use and your best girl won't know what you are talking about. This is not misogyny. It merely supposes that she does not follow cross word puzzling. Or maybe that is misogyny.

WEDDING RING

By MIL-WAL

THE contributors of this construction are husband and wife. This fact is symbolized by the wedding ring you see in the middle of the form. Cross-grained cross worders may complain that the ring is not a solid mass of words. Well, is a ring ever a solid mass?

THIRD-RAIL CROSSOVER

By I. S. O.

A FINE double-cross study in four-letter words. The occasional abbreviation does not mar the general effect. The lateral wedge-masses key well with the central cross. Altogether a nice construction.

DOWN THE GOLDEN STAIRS

By KONSTANTYNOPOLITANCZYK

WE have reason to believe that the name above is a pseudonym. We wish it weren't, for Mr. Konstantyou-finish-it has made a magnificent construction in five-letter words, with a few long ones to accomplish the interlock.

PERHAPS you agonized over Neophyte's creation in the First Series. Here's its mate. Neophyte, being a hardened veteran of the cryptic art, must have heard the groans from the breasts of puzzlers poring over his brain buster. And he gloated and went at his fell work again. However, this one is a little easier than the other.

HEY, THERE!

By NEOPHYTE

DEAR NEOPHYTE: Whaddaye mean by those two bare, indecently naked words, each with three unkeyed letters? An expert like you? However, you tried too hard to keep it down to the level of ordinary mankind and restrained yourself from so many outlandish words that you are addicted to—that, we believe, the puzzlers will forgive you.

SPOT

By IRVAN NECKERMAN

THE blacks strewn negligently over the form give it an informal look, different from those forms that are studiously ornamental and almost forbidding in the courtly, mannered preciseness. However, Mr. Neckerman's construction may make you knit your brows now and then.

LOOK at those corners, full, compact, ample, obese. A little bit loose on the sides, but admirable for corner construction. Most constructors would run the arms of the central cross out to the next to last letter.

ADAM'S RIB

IF this puzzle were Adam, that central double armed cross would be his rib just before it started turning into Eve. We observe nice fat masses of words at sides and corners.

IN THE CLOVER PATCH

By MINERVA

A SPLENDID construction, particularly in its avoidance of the bane of puzzlers—the loose center. Minerva has not hesitated to call upon the deeps of the dictionary for her words; there are some old favorites in the patch, of course, but also some interlopers that will serve to keep your interest for some time.

LITTLE BUT A BAD 'UN

By FRANK C. WHITE

MR. WHITE must be one of those mild-seeming people who fool you so often—at least that's the impression his construction gives the editor. It is little. It looks harmless. But don't start it if you have an appointment two hours hence. But maybe we shouldn't give this away.

MODERATION

By PORTER R. LEE

NEVER too much of anything is the slogan of this constructor. He gives you a puzzle of moderate difficulty, but a set of easy words and then a terror hidden among them like a serpent in the grass. The puzzle runs its way at an even tenor, like an honest man's life.

JUST FOR TWO!

By CHARLEY CINDERGLASS AND STONEY LONESOME

THESE two contributors send in Cross Words by the dozen, so you can imagine what splendid vocabularies they must have. This is one of their best, and it's not an easy one, either.

A NINE-CELLED HIVE

By EDITH S. ISEMAN

THERE is plenty of verbal honey in the nine divisions of this construction, and your search is not likely to result in any stings. The central interlock, perhaps, might be improved upon, but there! We have built puzzles ourselves, and know what the constructor is up against.

HIS PRIDE AND JOY

By ARTHUR J. GOLDBERG

FOR a second attempt ("My first you will never see," says Mr. Goldberg) this is really quite a wonder. It is hard enough to confuse even you experts and yet all the words are 100 per cent American—or should be!

A HARD NUT TO CRACK

By J. T. D.

GET out nutcracker, hammer, tongs and poker, for there are words in here that the English language doesn't know it owns. J. T. D. is absolutely ruthless when it comes to cornering the odd and unusual word, and the unheard-of definition. This puzzle is included especially to show you to what lengths the innocent Cross Word can go when it tries.

Why Not Give a Cross Word Puzzle Party?

The puzzles in this book may be obtained separately on stiff cardboard. Several copies of the same puzzle are ideal for a party

In solving the puzzles in this book, you may possibly have thought it good fun to stage a Cross Word Puzzle Party. Heretofore, this called for one copy of The Cross Word Puzzle Book for each person. But this is rather expensive, unless you plan to give a great many parties.

Responding to a general request, therefore, we are reprinting each of the fifty puzzles in this book separately on stiff boards. In other words, every one at a party can now have his own puzzle, and a contest can be arranged to see who will be the first to turn in a perfect solution.

This was first done at the Cross Word Puzzle Convention held at the Abassador Hotel, New York, on May 18, 1924. Everybody there agreed that it was an intensely exciting and enjoyable party. A contest of this sort can be made really thrilling by scoring each contestant's time with a stop-watch and noting the number of errors. The winner is the first person turning in a 100 per cent correct solution.

The price per puzzle (diagram and definitions) printed on stiff board (so that you won't have to lean on a book or table) is ten cents. Each puzzle comes in an individually sealed envelope. You may order as many or as few as you require for your party. Merely name the number of the puzzle (or puzzles) you wish, referring to the numbers in this book, and state the quantity of each. Send ten cents for each copy you order. They will be sent to you post-paid. They may be had only direct from the publishers.

If you believe that the people for whom you are planning the party have already done the puzzles in the Cross Word Puzzle Book, we can supply you with copies of 3 new puzzles specially constructed for parties, and not published anywhere. Ask for Puzzle A (easy); Puzzle B (medium); Puzzle C (hard). Price the same: ten cents for each card in a sealed envelope.

With each order for ten or more cards we shall send you five blank Cross Word diagrams, so that you and your friends may have the fun of constructing your own Cross Word puzzles.

We guarantee that your Cross Word Puzzle Party will be a huge success from every standpoint.

Whether or not you have a definite party in mind, we suggest that you order some of these puzzle-cards at once. You will appreciate having them on hand for one of those informal occasions when friends drop in. Many people have found that Cross Word Puzzle Parties are giving them more delightful entertainment than Bridge or Mah Jong. Send in your order to-day to

In the back pages of this volume you will find a number of interesting and important announcements. They will make clear how the use of Webster's Dictionary and Putnam's Word Book, for example, will improve your technique and enhance your delight in cross word puzzling.

"When life is entirely without satisfactions, as it is most of the time for even the best of us," writes Ruth Hale, "there is nothing to do but leave it, temporarily, of course, but completely. Now a game of bridge will do a little, and a ball game will do even better, but a Cross Word Puzzle does best of all."
